

Gender Justice: An Intersectional Analysis

Online Lecture & Student exchange

September 12th, 2025 (Fri)

TIME

15:30-17:00 (JST)
12:00-13:30 (in India, Hyderabad)

JOIN

Online (Zoom)
Register from the QR code

LECTURER

Dr. Anandita Pan
Assistant Professor

Indian Institute of Technology
Hyderabad
Department: Liberal Arts

ONLINE LECTURE

When speaking on the topic of justice relating to gender, the first question we need to begin with is, what gender is justice? This lecture focuses on gender justice in India through the lens of intersectionality to emphasize on the necessity to recognize the interconnectedness as well as differences among categories of 'women'. The lecture addresses the issue of injustice through the thematic scope of violence. I explain how intersectionality can prove to be a useful framework of analysis to understand injustice meted out to Dalit women and the ways forward.

STUDENT EXCHANGE

CONTACT

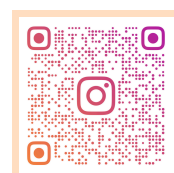

Center for International Education
EDI project office

✉ info-edi@cc.ocha.ac.jp

☎ 03-5978-5506

Register from HERE!

Follow us on Instagram for more events information!