

Changes of Parental Education Strategies before and after Junior Middle School Entrance Examination: Cases from Cixi city of Zhejiang Province, China

Fangfang Ma

The changes of parental education strategies before and after the private junior middle school entrance examination were investigated by analyzing the parental attentions on the examination. Semi-structural interviews with typical parents of different careers from Cixi city of Zhejiang Province (China) were carried out. The interviews were continuation of those performed in April and May this year. 17 new interviewees from migrant workers, laid-off workers, doctors, policemen, judges and managers were visited. 6 samples whose children were preparing the entrance examination in last interview were tracked.
